OUR TEMPERANCE WORK

KEY NOTE SONG.

There's a battle song to sing,
An alarm bell loud to ring;
There's a drum beat to be heard,
And a nation to be stirred;
Strike the key note, ring it out,
Send it with a loyal shout,
Loud and long,
Strike the key-note bold and strong.

Let our country dare to be God's peculiar land and free;
Brothers, let the key-note ring,
Mother's prayer and children sing;
Drive the traffic to the wall,
Prohibition! shout it all;
Pray and vote!
And ring out a grand key note.

CANON FARRAR'S VISIT.

His Views on the Temperance and Other Questions.

Canon Farrar interviewed by an Ottawa Free Press reporter, said he had been much struck by the similarity between life in Canada and England as far as he had seen it in Quebec and Montreal. He had also been agreeably impressed with the extreme hospitality of the Canadians. Everywhere he had been received with the greatest kindness, nor was this confined to Protestants alone. Amongst the Roman Catholic clergy, many had attended his lectures, and in conversation with them he found that they not only had read his books but were also possessors of them, and at their hands he had received the most courteous treatment. He had not originally intended to deliver any lectures in Canada, but had been so much pressed that he had consented to deliver five. When he left tonight he was going to Toronto and thence to the States to visit friends. Speaking of the temperance question in England, he said the amount of quiet, earnest work amongst the temperance advocates was rapidly increasing. Nothing had so far been done toward prohibition, though the House of Commons had twice passed the least objectionable resolution proposed by Sir Wilfrid Lawson. Notwithstanding this fact, whether it had been through the press of Imperial business or through the change of government he would not tell, nothing had been done to give force to the resolutions. Even if the present government retained power, he thought that next session could not pass without steps being passed in the House that would enable towns and cities to declare for local option, or at any rate for Sunday closing and the restriction of the liquor traffic. The brewing and kindred interests are very strong, and enormously rich they have immense influence and would oppose any change most vigorously, but he, in common with other earnest advocates of the cause, hoped that very shortly legislation would proceed to the logical outcome of the passage of the resolutions. With regard to the probability of local option being carried, the Archbishop said that in many of the country districts and small towns it would certainly be carried, though in the large towns he could not say how it would be. They were anxiously waiting, hoping for the time when the English people would have a speaking out on the subject of prohibition.

W. C. T. U. REPORT.

To the officers and members of the W. C. T. U.

DEAR FRIENDS:—By request of your executive I endeavor to give a general report of the Union's work during the past year, but as with all kindred societies, there is much work done that is not reportable, though it is known to Him whose servants we are. At our regular meeting, Oct. 19, 1884, it was decided to conduct religious services in the goal on Sabbath afternoons. With two or three exceptions, members of our Union have continued this every Sabbath during the year. Sometimes being assisted by Christian gentlemen, they have always been welcomed by the prisoners, who seemed to enjoy the service, some even leading in the singing of our Gospel Hymns. A testimonial has been given to each when I changed about twenty have signed the pledge, and about twenty sprituous liquors have been the cause of their fall.

Our coffee rooms, under the able management of Mrs. Goddard, we believe, been a blessing to many, and we should take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation of her unwearied effort on behalf of the inebriate. Quite a number of farmers dine there when in town, and many more would do so if there was stabling accommodation for their horses, and it is gratifying that Christian ministers, temperance workers and others, have repeatedly made their home there, and by their kind and hearty words have given us much encouragement. Our reading room has been open all the year, and while we regret that it is not larger and more attractive, we are much encouraged to continue it and to put forth our best efforts for its improvement. Strangers without home or friends have spent many hours there reading or writing.

From the account kept by your Reading-Room Committee, I find there are 78 bound books, three daily papers, four weeklies and several magazines, lent by friends to the institution. The business meetings have been held as usual all the year, with but one omission during the holidays, and the monthly prayer meeting, the number attending the latter has varied from six to seventeen.

Our receipts for this year are $104.21
Expenditures " " " " 97.15

Balance on hand $7.06
We cannot close without thanking all who have assisted us in any part of our work, then anxiously of their sympathy and influence, none are forgotten. We would especially thank the gentlemen who were last February appointed as an advisory committee to aid us when necessary until the end of the Union year, nor would we omit to mention a resolution passed at the late Baptist Convention held here, in which very favorable mention was made of our Reading and Coffee Rooms, and earnestly advising us to enlarge and improve them. And we also express our fullest appreciation of the kindness shown by many friends in the Old Country, and other in the lower provinces in sending us such excellent Christian and other useful literature, viz., Bibles, tracts, ornamental text, &c., which have been distributed from house to house, at the goal, the Reading Room, and since were gladly read by members of our Union.

THE WAYS OF WOMEN.

A woman is always a woman, wherever she may be, and whatever she may be doing. A man in his vocation will more or less succeed in repressing himself, and becoming a machine; but a woman can never do this. She carries her sympathies and prejudice, in all their virgin sensitiveness, into whatever occupation or pursuit she takes up; and, consequently, she is eminently unbusinesslike. That this is so will be evident to every observant person who has occasion to go into a post office, or other place where women are employed—though, as a matter of fact, no observation is necessary, for the fact will soon be brought forcibly to your attention whether you observe it or not. If you are not merely civil, but unctuously polite; if you admire and flatter her, and treat her with the Castilian courtesy due to a duchess, you may get properly attended to; but if you have neither time nor inclination for the task, or think that Castilian courtesy may be readily dispensed with in a post office, you will very soon find yourself postponed to some one with more leisure and dexterity at his disposal. So long as there is nothing to divert her attention, she can work tolerably well; but the moment anything more interesting than her work comes within view, her eyes and thoughts wander, and she becomes distraite. From "The Ways of Women," by Sydney York.

ORIGIN OF MOSQUITOES.

The Indians have a very satisfactory account of the origin of the Montezuma mosquitoes. The legend runs thus—There was in times of old, many moons ago, two huge feathered monsters permitted by the Manitou to descend from the sky and light on the banks of the Seneca River. Their form was that of the mosquito. They were so large that they flew toward the earth standing on their bank they guarded the river, and stretching their long necks into the canoes of the Indians as they attempted to paddle along the stream, gobbled them up as the stork king in the fable gobbled up the frogs. The destruction of life was so great that not an Indian could pass without being devoured in the attempt. It was long before the monsters could be exterminated, and then only by the combined efforts of all the Cayuga and Onondago nations. The battle was terrible but the warriors finally triumphed, and the man-moth mosquitoes were slain and it continued. For this neglect the Indians had to pay dearly. The canoes decomposed, and the particles, vivified by the sun, flew off in clouds of mosquitoes, which have filled the country ever since.

A FAITHLESS LOVER.

A Girl's Life of Devotion and Unhappy Fate.

One evening, in the far-off fatherland, as she leaned over the gate and waited for the coming of the red-checked and flaxen-haired Fritz, she shyly whispered to herself—"In a little time we shall be married. My mother will live with us, and Fritz will whistle and I will sing all day long in our happiness. Ah! Fritz! So jolly! So honest! So truthful! Was ever another boy like him?" Her heart beat faster as she heard the echo of his wooden shoes on the hard path, and she threw open the gate and ran half-way down to meet him.

"What! Fritz, ill?"
"No."
"In trouble?"
"No."
"But something has happened?"
He led her to the bench under the old pear tree, and with his arm about her he explained that he was going away—across the ocean—to America. He could make a little money in Germany—he could make a fortune in America. The idea of separation grieved his heart more than he could tell, but it would not be for long. In a couple of years—in three at most—he would come back to claim his bride. And so he talked and argued and pleaded, and with her heart almost choking her, and her eyes so full of tears that she could not see his face in the moonlight, Katrina whispered:

"You shall go, and I shall wait for you. I shall wait two years—three—five—forever. I believe in you as in my God!" In a few weeks Fritz was on his way, and if Katrina's blue eyes were never clear of tears his heart was never free from pain. By and by a letter came from him—then another and another; and for a year Katrina was happy. He had found work and was doing well. He loved her with all his soul—he would work and save and return home to her.

And the days made weeks and the weeks made months of the second year. The letters did not come so often, and there was something in their tenor which provoked anxiety.

"Ah! but he is so busy, and perhaps he was very tired. Katrina's mother would say. Fritz is faithful and true—try and be patient."

When the weeks were running into months of the third year Katrina was an orphan. Letters from Fritz now came only at such long intervals that her soul was sick with the waiting and hoping. He still claimed to love her, and he still hoped to return for her, but he had been ill—was out of work—had met with a loss—always something to put the time farther in the future.

"Why not?" she suddenly asked herself one evening as she sat under the same pear tree. "It is a hard task poor Fritz has taken upon himself. I will lighten his labors. He cannot come to me, but I will go to him. Let the world talk. We love each other—we are to be man and wife."

A month later Katrina was walking the streets of the city in which her Fritz was living. She did not know his abiding-place but she would walk and walk—she would inquire of every kind-faced man—she would whisper her errand to every woman, and she would find Fritz. He would be so glad, and they would be so happy, and the thought of it brought such smiles to her face that men turned to look, and wonder at her.

One, two, three days of weary and fruitless search, but she was not discouraged. On the fourth day, as she wandered up and down, her heart suddenly stood still. Out from a side street came her Fritz. Yes, she would know him among ten thousand. The same red cheeks, the same flaxen hair, the same smile of good nature.

"Fritz—oh, Fritz! It is I—it is your Katrina!"
"Joy must have blinded her for a moment, for she did not see that he had company—that a woman walked beside him, and looked up into his face as only a wife can look."

Katrina stood before them. She looked from one to the other, and her woman's instinct told her the truth. Fritz had played her false. He was married. White-faced—trembling—heart-broken, she looked into his eyes. He was pale but firm.

"Fritz! Oh, Fritz!"
"I do not know you," he replied.
"And this is my Fritz—my lover—my pledged husband!"

"Woman, move out of my path!"
She obeyed. Straight before her was the river. Crushed and dazed and walking as one in her sleep she walked on and down to the wharf. The swift, deep waters were at her feet.

She turned and looked back to the spot where she had encountered her faithless lover.

"Poor Fritz—perhaps it was best! she murmured."

Next moment the fierce tide was bearing the body away, and the heart which had kept faith so long and trusted so well was stifled in death.

THE WAR OF RACES.

If what we can learn about the object of the Hon. Mr. White's visit to this country be true, he will not have made his trip in vain. Until the country fully recovers from the effects of the boom, and the residents one and all settle down to legitimate business of the country, on a proper basis, it will not be safe for any minister to listen exclusively to one class of people. There are many in all callings in the country, smarting under the consequences of mistakes of their own making, and are, therefore, biased and incapable of expressing unprejudiced opinions, no matter how good their judgment may be on subjects that do not interest themselves. It is safe to say, that as the mercantile community better understand the requirements of the country and the real capabilities of their customers, their course will be marked by fewer reverses than have distinguished their history in the past. Again, as the farmers better understand the climate, the duration of the seasons, and the producing capabilities of the country, their success will be more certain from year to year, and so on of all other classes into which the people are divided. So far it has been nothing but experiment, and until that has been displaced by experience, visitors to this country, and especially visiting ministers, may expect to hear nothing but complaints and suggestions. The painstaking and honest minister will, of course, lend a patient ear to all, but he cannot form his conclusions without exercising considerable caution and discretion. As we understand, Mr. White has decided to visit all industries, to consider all interests, and to listen to the complaints and suggestions of all classes in the country, and make up his mind from the weight of evidence. And this is the proper course for him to take. If he listens to the Lord Government alone, he will be persuaded that a combination, such as is rank in the nostrils of three quarters of the community, is deserving of much credit for its management of public affairs; if he is influenced by the Farmers' Union, he will be told the Federal Government

They pretended to say that in Minnesota when they were winning the fight they came to the north in order that they might say more than half of the time, but when actually pressed they couldn't say exactly where the lands were; they were only aware that Dakota was farther north as they would say. This was the way the American territories were filled up, and the people should know of this.

THEFT AND MURDER AGAIN.

Ex-Sgt. Campbell is working up an important police case, and as it has a history, to be given. Our readers will remember that in June a year ago, two cowboys who gave the names of Gordon and Wells, but which, according to the story, were aliases for Wm. Roberts and Thos. Hughes, were arrested by the police officers here for stealing horses and mules, and were sentenced to six months in jail, the animals being confiscated and sold for a breach of the customs duties, by customs collector Hesson. Things then remained quiet for a time, until Mr. Campbell got a trace of the animals that had been stolen from Weber, of Hefield, Dakota. He was a postmaster in that locality giving a description of the animals, confiscated here, and the letter was published in a local paper. This brought out Sheriff Sebastian, of S. A. K. County, who identified the animals and informed Campbell there was a reward of $250 for the information, and he is going to receive it. The American officers are now in correspondence as to a return for the sale, and it is very likely some reasonable settlement will be arrived at. The more important feature of the case is, however, that a charge of murder in connection with the case with other thefts, is preferred against Gordon and Wells, and they have been arrested in Miles City, Montana, pending an investigation, and Hughes has already been evidence against the other. Campbell surmises there is reward for the offenders in the murder case with which the names of these parties have been associated, and that to secure this was the sheriff's main reason for coming over to identify the cattle; but, of course, it is for the future developments to disclose the facts of the case. In any case Mr. Campbell has been engaged by the stock raisers' association of the Northern States to look after their interests here, and doubtless he will be enabled to turn his good detective acumen to profitable account in the business.

Mr. Campbell also had an association with the Dakota murder case in which Charles Giffert is a prominent character, that the people might as well understand at this juncture. On the 2nd of July last he, in response to a telegram from Duncan McKee, an old time acquaintance residing at Stony Creek, saying that Mills, Giffert's associate, was working in a saw mill there, and could be secured if he went up. Shortly after this he received a letter from Mr. J. W. N. Carson, dated at Emerson, where the latter then was, saying that he (Carson) was the owner of the mill at Stony Creek, and was answering Mills' description had worked there for two months, but had just left for the Pacific coast. It is a moot question that if Campbell had gone up when he got the telegram from McKee, as he says he would have done had he been permitted to do so, that the Chief of Police or the city council, he would have secured the offender who is now, and may now for all time remain, at Stony Creek.

A Cure for Cholera Morbus.—A positive cure for this dangerous complaint, and for all other chronic forms of Bowel Complaint, incident to Summer and Fall, is found in Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, to be procured from any Druggist.

PROVINCIAL.

A man named R. Clarke suicided in Winnipeg Saturday, because of domestic difficulties.

Mr. Samuel Moore, living a few miles west of Brandon City, lost his tables by fire last week about one ton of poultry, and about 40 tons of hay. The loss was discovered in time to save the house. It is supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

The close season for all kinds of deer, including caribou or reindeer, elk or wapiti, moose, or caribou and fawns of such animals, opened on the first of October, from which date they may be shot and hunted until the first day of January, except on Sundays.

A survey of sec. 6, tp. 17, rg. 23, situated at the north end of Stony Lake, is being made, a station located and a large supply of building material is being sent there. Contracts for rent and purchase for eleven houses have already been made. The railway company is also about to erect a $20,000 hotel and expect to make the place a popular summer resort.

A SURE THING.

A sure cure for Summer Complaints—procure from your druggist one 37½ cent bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and use according to directions. It is infallible for Diarrhoea, Cholera Morbus, Canker of the Stomach and Bowels, and Cholera Infantum.

Inventor, Edison's Wealth.

How much is Edison worth? No one knows. But he is what most people would call a rich man, even in these modern days. He has a regular annual income from the Western Union Telegraph Company of $20,000 in royalties on old patents. He is the principal stockholder in five manufacturing companies that bear his name, with an aggregate of $900,000 capital, and all of them paying large dividends every six months. He has put $80,000 in cash into the Downtown Electrical Illuminating Company, which has earned a dividend, notwithstanding the large expenditures such experiments required. Since the death of Mrs. Edison he has moved with the three children into a flat on Eighteenth street, near Broadway, where the inquisitive could probably ascertain that he pays his rent with scrupulous regularity. In fact, Edison has a very practical side, and probably receives an income of from $75,000 to $100,000.—N. Y. Wk. Id.

THREE STAGES OF LIFE.

Anti-Nuptial.

Sweet love, I know that I must go;
This late, the noon of night is high;
Time speeds away and yet I stay,
A lingering lover sweet and true,
Ah! how I hate to say good-bye.

Good night, my own! when you're alone,
Ere slumber seals those starry eyes,
O, give a tender thought to one
Who takes his leave of you with sighs,
Whose heart still for your presence cries.

One kiss—adieu—I wish for you Dreams rosy and slumbers light,
The time is night when you and I
No more will need to say good-night.

How radiant in her bridal dress!
How sweet the love light in her eyes!
To-day she crowns my happiness,
And earth becomes a paradise.

I marvel as I look upon
Her now arrayed in beauties' pride,
By what strange arts of love I won
This winged angel for my bride.

And I need go for her no more Nor dread her father's frown
When parting from her at the door,
Nor fear his sudden coming down.

No more to leave her at the gate,
And sighing wander home alone,
For where she is—that's home; thank fate,
She's mine at last, my wife, my own.

Post Nuptial.

What's that you say? "Tis folly's height
To try on that played out dodge,
To come home at this time of night,
Pretending You've been to the lodge?"

"Where—hio—do you suppose I've been?
"In some saloon?" Your quite a joker.
Ha! ha! what's that, you "ain't so green?"
You "know that I've been playing at poker?"

"I'm chewing cloves?" yes, for a cough;
I've got a cold. What's that you said?
"Too bad?" O, yes; what now, "take off My boots before I go to bed?"

Of course, my dear, I quite forgot
I had 'em on. Hio—there they go "Take off my hat?" "I'm drunk?" I'm not,
I wonder at your talking so.

"You won't put up with"—hush that child,
The peace-disrupting little elf,
Oh stop it now, it sets me wild.
What's that—hio—hush the child myself?"

Well, let me have her—hio—hio—
Here I am in my morning frock;
Safe in your papa's arms you lie;
By—ly my baby—slumber sweet.

And this is matrimonial life—
To walk the floor like this, alack!
He is a foot who takes a wink Great Scott? I've stepped upon a tack.

Great Julius (Caesar)! look at that!
O who would wed for love or self—
My foot—here take the squalling brat
And try to make her sleep yourself.

O, "I'm a brute?" O, yes, of course—
That blasted tack! What's that—I'm rude?"
"You'll sue at once for a divorce!"
I wish to goodness that you would.

Curtain.

THE CUNNING APACHES.

The Apaches are the most subtle Indians on the American Continent. Time and again have they outwitted the veteran campaigners sent out against them, and the skillful scouts, who have won their spurs elsewhere have been completely unhorsed by those peerless knights of the plains.

Some years since, when a lieutenant of cavalry, I commanded the escort of a cattle train on its way to the eastern portion of Arizona from New Mexico. We were in the Apache country, and consequently were without any excuse for being taken off our guard. When I add that we rode over a perfectly dry and level prairie, with only the blue line of the Zuni Mountains visible against the distant horizon, it will be supposed that the last danger we had to fear was from the bad men. All our company were old Indian fighters; but while we were passing across the parched plain, with the cattle train a half-mile to the rear, and with ourselves on the alert, we were utterly outwitted, and our friends disastrously ambushed.

We rode within one hundred yards of a large force of dismounted Indians without even suspecting the astonishing fact. Some time later when we were startled by a sudden firing behind us, we looked back and saw our friends engaged in a fierce fight with a party of Apaches. Where the swarthy assailants came from passed conjecture.
The country, for miles in every direction, as I have said, was a blasted plain. A jack rabbit would have been detected, as he whisked like a ray of light across the yellow surface, and yet more than a score of warriors had hidden themselves from our sight when scarcely a stone's throw away.

We dashed back to the endangered horsemen, but before we could reach them several of them were badly wounded, and the cattle were currying southward in a cloud of dust. We kept up a running fight for several miles, but the raiders, a number of whom had secured horses, got away without losing a stolen animal, or leaving a wounded warrior behind.

The Apaches, as we afterward learned, knowing the route we were to take, stretched themselves on the ground along the trail. Their scant clothing and their bodies were the same color as the earth upon which they lay motionless. The dry stunted grass was gathered about their heads and shoulders, with such deftness, that, as I have shown, we rode past the party without the slightest suspicion of any kind of danger.

THE COLONIAL AND INDIAN EXHIBITION
TO BE HELD IN LONDON, ENGLAND, COMMENCING
MAY 1st, 1886, is intended to be on a scale of great magnitude, having for its object to mark an epoch in the relations of all the parts of the British Empire with each other.

In order to give becoming significance to the event, a Royal Commission is issued for the holding of this Exhibition, for the first time since 1852, and his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales has been appointed President by Her Majesty.

The very large space of 54,000 square feet has been allotted to the Dominion of Canada by command of the President, His Royal Highness.
This Exhibition is to be purely Colonial and Indian, and no competition from the United Kingdom or from foreign nations will be permitted, the object being to exhibit to the world the progress of the Colonies.

The grandest opportunity ever offered to Canada is, a chance to show the distinguished place she occupies by the progress she has made in Agriculture, in Manufactures, in the Extraction of Minerals, in the Manufacture of Fishing Industries, in the Newest Improvements in Manufacturing Machinery and Instruments, in Public Works by Roads and Canals; also, in an adequate display of her vast resources in the Fisheries, and in Forest and Mineral wealth, and also in Shipping.

All Canadian exhibitors and classes are invited to come forward and vie with each other in endeavouring on this great occasion to put Canada in her true place as the premier colony of the British Empire, and to establish her proper position before the world.

Every farmer, every manufacturer, every manufacturer, has interest in assisting, it having been already demonstrated that extension of trade always follows such efforts.

By Order, JOHN LOWE,
Sec. of the Exhibition, Agriculture,
Glasgow, 1st Sept., 1885.

mission Since 1862.

THE COLONIAL AND INDIAN EXHIBITION
TO BE HELD IN LONDON, ENGLAND, COMMENCING
MAY 1st, 1886, is intended to be on a scale of

CANADIAN.

Geoph, Sept. 23.—Dr. Hare, Professor of Chemistry at the Agricultural College, died yesterday morning of apoplexy.

Kingston, Sept. 23.—Col. Geo. A. Kirkpatrick had four teeth knocked out and sustained a severe mental shock, by his horse, which he was riding to parade, throwing up his head and striking him in the face.

Shelburne, Sept. 23.—Geo. A. Thompson, a brakeman, while coupling cars at the station here today, fell on the track and a car ran over both of his legs. The limbs were amputated but the young man succumbed.

Pasquoche had an interview with officials of the Interior Department yesterday, in relation to the lands now held by the Q.A.T. and the Lake Huron Railway. The deal will probably be completed by the end of the month.

Port Dalhousie, Sept. 23.—Burglars entered several private residences here last night. They were so bold in their operations that they woke the occupants in several of the houses, and an alarm having been given a pursuit party was organized. The chase resulted in the capture of two men, Thos. Burke and John Kelly. Burke carried his revolver at the pursuing party's request.

John, N. B., Sept. 23.—The preliminary examination of Jas. Robinson, a shoe manufacturer who is accused of swindling a bank of Montreal out of $6,000, was begun here today.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 23.—James Nolan, a well known miner, working on Granite Peak, was cowardly murdered by a cowboy on Monday, whose name is unknown. Four armed men are in pursuit of the murderer, who has fled for the American side. This is the first murder committed in the new year.

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 23.—Wm. Devey, formerly a sergeant in the 62nd Regiment, and well known throughout the Province as an infantry drill instructor, accidentally shot himself dead Friday evening. He was working with some rifles, when one of them which was loaded, was discharged in an unknown manner, and the charge entering his mouth penetrated the back of his head. When found by his wife, who heard the report in an adjoining room, he was in a state of death. The deceased was fifty years of age and obtained his discharge from the 62nd Regiment nearly twenty-five years ago.

Montreal, Sept. 23.—The trial of Sheppard at the Toronto News, for criminally libelling the 65th Regiment, was concluded today, the jury returning a verdict of acquittal of publishing the libel without knowing it to be false. The defendant was fined $200. As he was leaving the building he was surrounded by a mob, who accompanied the 65th to the front as an attached officer, forced his way through the crowd and attempted to strike Sheppard with a whip. Sheppard parried the blow with an umbrella and Normandeau followed him up, when he drew a revolver. At this point Major Dugas seized Normandeau and forced him away, while Capt. Girone of the 65th, counselled Sheppard to put the revolver in his pocket, which he did. Two policemen present arrested Sheppard for carrying a revolver and hurried him to the Central Police station, and then before Magistrate Desnoyers, who, considering the circumstances, dismissed him, and allowed him to keep his revolver. A howling mob followed the party from court to the Central Police Station.

Napawee, Sept. 23.—At the Napawee assizes last week a bench of promise case was heard. The parties to the suit were Miss McGuire and Mr. Mowbray, of Sheriff's township. The plaintiff, about 40 years of age, is a plain matter of fact person. Mowbray is about 50 years of age and the possessor of considerable property. The suit was brought to recover $1,000 damages for libelated allegations. Mowbray having married another woman. There were no witnesses produced, but the manner in which Miss McGuire told her romance with the cavalier as very interesting. She told how Mr. Mowbray "peppered the question," "How something like this: 'How do you like me?' enquired the lover, as he hung about in a circle and hitched his chair up close to the maiden. 'Very well,' she replied, leaning benignly upon Mowbray. 'Then I guess we'll get married,' said the enamoured farmer after a mighty effort to speak. She assented, and the arrangements were made, and it was decided that the wedding at Brandon East should be the best. The cost of the trip was figured up at $15, and Mowbray thought they could pull through that expense. Then they read the service and Mowbray unintentionally, of course, called his betrothed's attention to the word 'obey.' Miss McGuire, in her anticipation of her marriage, secured a dress at a cost of $18 or $12. Afterwards Mowbray deserted her, hence the action. The defence set up that she was not all he thought she was, but the jury exactly awarded her $300 and costs. At Brandon, Miss McGuire, looking at Mowbray, said, 'I guess I haven't lost much.'

Break down, or the Liquor Habit, can be cured by Administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

There is no need of a cup of coffee or tea without the knowledge of the person taking it, whether a food and a cure whether the patient is a teetotaler, a moderate drinker or an alcoholic. Thousands of drunkards have been made some of them who have taken the Golden Specific for five without their knowledge, and in consequence of taking of their own free will. No bad effects result from its administration. It is guaranteed. If you are interested, send for a copy. Address, GEO. A. CROSTHWAITE, P.O. Box 100, St. Catharines, Ont.

TOWN TOPICS

Moosomin has tonsorial artist.

The C.P.R. pay car went west yesterday.

A long train of Montana cattle went east yesterday.

F. E. Doering is billed to pull teeth at Virden, on the 6th of Oct.

Mr. Cooper, photographer, late of this city, is going to open a gallery at Virden.

Col. Lewis, of London, Ont., has gone west, and will visit Capt. Wasie on his return.

Mr. Livingston, wholesale clothier, of Toronto, has been in the city for some days, and Mr. A. C. Fraser "perambulated" him around to take in the sights.

The Rev. J. F. Betts, of Winnipeg, goes to Halifax as the representative of the Manitoba Conference of the Methodist Church, which meets in that city on 13th of October.

A good sample of wheat brings 62 cents on the market now, but the prices range as low as 30c. So far perhaps not more than 5,000 bushels of new grain have been brought in.

"Bulldog" Kelly, now awaiting extradition at St. Vincent for the murder of Baird in the mountains last winter, at one time worked in the C.P.R. yards here, and figured occasionally on the police records.

Mr. S. Gregg, the London hotel man, returned to the city last week, to reflect on the result of the past harvest. He has a good crop, but regrets to find some of it the worse for the frost.

The other day Mr. Richard Hunter saw a flock of geese playing nicely at a spring near his place, and informed a sporting neighbor of the fact. The neighbor fired one shot and brought down two geese, as they were starting for a voyage. This, we presume, meant "birds apiece."

On a complaint of Mr. Howat, who is making additions to the Murray block, for a pork-packing establishment, against a flood of water which comes down hill from the south of Princess ave., deluging his lot, a special meeting of the council was called Monday, and it was decided to put in a box to carry the water past the lot, the cost not to exceed $30 or $40.

Some are inclined to think the expression "not worth a damn," so much indulged in by "Young America," is very irreverent, to say the least of it, but it is as rational as "he has caught a tartar," after all. There is a coin in eastern India called "a damn," worth about the one-twenty-fourth of a cent, and is considered of but little value by Europeans, hence the expression.

Squire Sowden, of Plum Creek, was in the city on Tuesday, on his way east for a visit. He says he has threshed over 8,000 bushels of wheat so far this season, and finds his worst samples, those most injured by the frost, weigh 60 lbs to the bushel. This shows unmistakably the cry of "frozen wheat" has been much magnified by interested parties. Mr. S. will return in three weeks bringing his good wife with him to spend the winter, and both will probably make this country their future permanent abode.

A paragraph appeared in our last issue which conveyed the idea that Lord Lansdowne preached in the Episcopal Church on the Sabbath of his visit here, and the Free Press insinuates that such was not the case. It was a church warden who wrote the paragraph, and as there is a point of veracity between the warden and the Grit print, it will go hard with the cause of religion.

We are given to understand that the Hon. Thomas White, now in the country, will visit Brandon about the last of October, when he will be banqueted. While here he will make an arrangement to give all who have, or imagine they have, grievances, the Government should remove a full opportunity to discuss them in private interviews. It is more than likely that if Dr. Fleming and Co., visit him on behalf of the Farmers' Union, they will have a good opportunity, for "spoon-feeding."

Mr. Hartney, the great wheat grower to the south, was in the city en route to the Provincial Exhibition, where he is going to show samples of wheat grown from the same crop as that which took the Hudson Bay prize at the Provincial Show at the Portage two years ago. The samples were magnificent in every sense of the word, and fully matured before the early frost. Mr. H. says he has over 4,000 bushels of this grain, with a large quantity besides, but little behind it in excellence.

A distressing accident befel Mrs. James Thompson, a widow, who is farming in the Oak River settlement. By some means or other her residence, which was a good one, caught fire at an early hour on Saturday morning, and was consumed before assistance could be rendered, and what is worse her son, a youth about 14 years of age, perished in the flames. The particulars, as nearly as we can get them, are these: Her eldest son came in late, cooked some supper and retired. A short time after retiring, he saw the house in flames. His first work was to rescue his mother in her night clothes, and then returned for the two youngest, telling the suffocated brother to follow. The youth did so for a time but returned, and perished before he could be rescued from an upstairs window.

If the reports of the reception accorded the Governor-General at Winnipeg, on his arrival in the province, are true, it is to be hoped the like will never be repeated. If such assemblages are designed to mean any thing, they are to permit the public one and all to express their loyalty to the Queen, by meeting her representative in their country. The Winnipeggers, however, converted it into a select entertainment, in which none but the Local Government, the city council and some other such edifying were allowed to participate. When it comes to this, that the general masses of the people, because clad in plain yeomen's suits, are not allowed to share in such celebrations and only those wearing tons of judgments against them and swallow tailed coats, are permitted to meet Vice Royalty, it is time there was a change in the rules of society. For the credit of the place, we hope no such buffoonery will be indulged in this city, on his Excellency's return, when Brandonites are to meet him. It is hardly necessary for us to make such a suggestion, as we believe the people of this city have too much common sense to step into the mistake made at Winnipeg.

FUTURE PUNISHMENT.

I have secured the exclusive right to sell by subscription, within the Western Judicial District, a new work entitled "Future Punishment," that is being published by an Ontario firm. The work is written by three or four of the ablest men in Canada, and should be in the hands of every reader. I can guarantee this to be the most brilliant, well-written book of the age, and must secure an extensive sale in every section of the country. As it is to be sold by subscription only, I want to secure live agents, who will receive a handsome return for their services, in every part of this territory. Schoolteachers and others who have a little leisure on their hands, will find it to their interest to secure an agency. The first expense will be a prospectus showing the style of the writing, the several subjects on which it treats, and the different styles of binding. This will cost two dollars and is all that will be required to canvass with.

Parties who want to secure an agency will please communicate with me at once as I wish to establish agents throughout the territory without delay.

C. CLIFFE,

Mail Office, Brandon.

SOUTHERN MANITOBA.

Mr. Peter Thompson returned on Saturday night from a visit to Deloraine, Turtle Mountain district. He reports the harvesting operations well advanced, most of the grain drawn in, and in some cases the threshing commenced. The oats seem to have escaped the frost. The wheat is, as a rule, not much injured by the frost, some fields giving a good yield as to quantity and quality, while others come short. East from the mountain the frost seems to have injured the grain more than immediately around Deloraine. It is worthy of note that this is the first time this district has suffered from frost.

The chief talk of interest is the railway extension, and some of the farmers complain that the published reports of some who have lately visited the district convey the impression that the settlers will all benefit if the railway this season reaches within twenty-five miles of Deloraine. This is not the case, as those west of Deloraine will not gain any benefit from the present extension, there being a well settled district up to Ranges 27 and 28, Townships 1 and 2. The settlers there will still be 50 to 60 miles from the terminus. Owing to the uncertainty as to railway matters, the farmers did not break much this year. One farmer who had prepared 290 acres, only broke 60 acres. The settlers are going in now for improved stock and dairy farming. Mr. M. D. Wright, of the Quinte farm, has this year erected a large barn, capable of holding 50 tons hay, 9,000 bushels grain, 1,000 bushels of potatoes, and stabling for 10 teams. He has tried cheese making, and as the samples are good and the prospects good, he thinks of starting a cheese factory next year.

Prairie fires are becoming frequent. One farmer about 15 miles west from Deloraine lost over 1,000 bushels grain from this cause.

The fall show takes place at Deloraine on Tuesday and Wednesday, and it is expected there will be a good display.

As regards the question of frozen wheat, it may be mentioned that Mr. Jones, of Harris Bros & Co., is getting about 500 samples of grain from different parts of the Province, and will be glad to show them to those interested.

At Plum Creek the millers there, MacCulloch & Herriot, are erecting an elevator capable of holding 20,000 bushels.
